

MASTER PROMPT – Professional Cover Letter (SWL Consulting Version)

General Considerations:

Write a cover letter for applying to a new position on Upwork that is professional, persuasive, and aligned with the job post.

You must read carefully read:

- The JOB POST
- The LIST OF SERVICES we offer
- My CV
- SPECIFIC COMMENTS FOR THIS JOB POST
- This MASTER PROMPT on how to structure the cover letter.

Then generate a final cover letter that follows the required structure, integrates my experience, and addresses the client's needs precisely.

Absolutely do not include comments, disclaimers, notes about missing information, or any meta text in this cover letter. The output must always be the polished and final cover letter only.

Goals:

- Based on the job post, think about the target audience to determine the best way to engage the reader.
- Capture the reader's interest from the very first line so they want to keep reading.
- Make it persuasive enough that the client feels compelled to reply.
- Validate my profile as well as SWL Consulting.
- Clearly and structurally present how we can add value.
- End with a call to action to schedule a meeting or interview.

Key Inputs You Will Receive

- JOB POST:
- CV:
- List of Services:
- Specific Comments for the Job Post:

General Writing Requirements

- Professional, strategic, fluent, and direct tone, avoiding exaggerations and empty phrases.

- Length: 300–350 words.
 - Language according to the job post (almost always in English, unless the job post is in Spanish).
 - Clear paragraphs with smooth transitions.
 - Include my name “Juan” at the end as a signature.
 - No disclaimers, no profile verification notes, no assumptions written in the output.
 - Do not use hyphens “-” or em dashes “—”.
 - Ask for clarification if information is missing. Do not guess or fill gaps.

Cover Letter Structure

1. Welcome Greeting (Paragraph 1)

Instructions Paragraph 1:

Start with a warm, professional greeting.

- Show pleasure in connecting and immediate alignment with client’s needs.
- Reference one specific and important detail from the job post to show I have read and understood their needs, just one sentence here.
- Demonstrate genuine interest, connect with a key point from the job post (client pain point, strategic moment, desired outcome), and use the client’s language.
- Create empathy, break the ice, and find common ground.
- Maximum 2 sentences: 50 to 60 words
- Always write in “we” (representing SWL Consulting).

Examples Paragraph 1:

- Hi there, it’s a pleasure to connect. We have extensive experience leading projects like [specific project/task from job post], and we see a clear alignment with your current needs.
 - Hi there, glad to connect. We bring proven expertise in [specific project/task from job post], and we’re confident our background positions us to deliver strong results for you.
 - Hi there, great to connect. Your project immediately resonated with us, as we’ve successfully delivered similar initiatives in [relevant industry/area].

2. Initial Hook (2 paragraph)

This paragraph is the deal breaker — the hook. We need to capture attention and show we understand the pain and can achieve the objective.

Instructions Paragraph 2:

- Demonstrate genuine interest, connect with a key point from the job post (client pain point, strategic moment, desired outcome).
- Create empathy, break the ice, and find common ground, look for the spot where we can add value to them and be a good fit.

- Speak to the person, not the company. Show intention and anticipate how the client would feel if we were in their shoes.

Examples Paragraph 2:

- It's clear you're looking for more than just [role/task] — you're looking for a partner who can [solve X specific challenge]. We have helped [Business Industry from Job Post] businesses do exactly that by [short example of what we did].
 - Your focus on [key objective from job post] instantly resonated with us, as we've led projects where [relevant achievement] and delivered measurable results.
 - We understand how critical it is to [client's priority from job post], and we've successfully supported clients facing similar challenges by [short example]. That experience allows us to bring not only technical expertise but also proven approaches tailored to your context.

3. Strong Fit – Build Respect and Authority (Paragraph 3)

This section establishes why we are the ideal fit by validating academic background and professional experience directly connected to the client's needs.

Instructions Paragraph 3:

Length: ideally 8–10 lines to preserve impact.

Keep the flow natural, not just a list.

Divide into two parts:

Part 1 – Academic Background: mention I hold an MBA, Master in Finance, and FMVA certification.

Part 2 – Relevant Experience: Include at least 1 of this main roles from my cv (Managing Director Latam for Global Consulting Firm, Head of Investments for a media & entertainment fund in LA and CFO for a SaaS business in europe) to the job post context, using concrete and measurable examples.

Examples Paragraph 3:

- I hold an MBA, a Master's in Finance, and the Financial Modeling & Valuation Analyst certification from the Corporate Finance Institute in Canada, which allow me to approach complex projects with both strategic vision and technical precision. Over the past years, I have led initiatives in corporate finance, operations, sales, marketing and system integrations. As Managing Director for a global consulting firm, I introduced AI-powered solutions that optimized resources and streamlined decision-making. As CFO of a SaaS company, I implemented automation systems that improved profitability and scalability. As Head of Investments at a media & entertainment fund, I structured advanced financial models and business plans to support high-value decisions.
 - With an MBA, a Master's in Finance, and certification in Financial Modeling & Valuation, I bring both technical expertise and strategic vision to complex projects. My track record includes introducing data-driven strategies as Managing Director for a global consulting firm, implementing scalable automation as CFO of a SaaS company, and leading advanced financial modeling and investment analysis as Head of Investments at a media & entertainment fund. This combination of experience ensures we can deliver solutions that are both analytically rigorous and practically effective, tailored to the scope of [specific project/task from job post].

4. What We Can Bring to This Project (Bulleted List) (Paragraph 4)

This section presents a clear and concise list of contributions that directly address the client's needs as stated in the job post.

Instructions Paragraph 4:

- Provide 3–5 bullet points.
- Each bullet should be one line, starting with a strong action verb.
- Focus on deliverables, approaches, tools, or strategic ideas.
- Adapt language to the job post (always professional, never generic).
- Avoid repetition and keep bullets results-oriented.
- Before the bullet points, introduce them with “What our AI engineers can bring to this project: / How our team can add value to your project: / Our AI engineers can support your project by / Our Business Analysts can support you by...”

Examples Paragraph 4: (do not use verbatim):

- Designing financial models that drive data-backed investment decisions.
 - Implementing automated reporting systems for real-time insights.
 - Structuring corporate strategies that accelerate growth and efficiency.
 - Integrating technology solutions that optimize processes and reduce costs.

5. SWL Consulting Introduction (Paragraph 5)

This section validates SWL Consulting as the firm behind the proposal, showing credibility, breadth of expertise, and direct relevance to the client's needs.

Instructions Paragraph 5:

- Provide a concise description of SWL Consulting, our areas of expertise, and key strengths.
- Convey clearly that we are a consulting firm specialized in AI-powered solutions across corporate finance, strategy, business operations, and sales.
- Highlight that we are a multidisciplinary team with proven experience across industries.
- Link one specific service from the “List of Services” directly to the client's job post (e.g., Business Intelligence & Reporting, Corporate Finance Advisory, System Architecture & Integrations).
- Keep it 5–6 lines, professional and confident.

Examples Paragraph 5:

I lead SWL Consulting, a boutique advisory firm with a team of 20+ professionals from diverse backgrounds. We specialize in AI-powered solutions that cover corporate finance, strategy, business operations, and sales, helping companies strengthen performance and scale effectively. In projects within [job post industry], we have delivered tailored solutions such as [specific service from List of Services, e.g., Business Intelligence & Reporting, Corporate Finance Advisory, or System Architecture & Integrations], enabling clients to achieve [client-relevant outcome, e.g., improved decision-making, real-time insights, or streamlined operations].

6. Call to Action (Paragraph 6)

Write one of the following sentences, according to the convenience of the context:

- If this resonates with you, please let me know your availability so we can schedule a call.
 - If this sounds interesting to you, let's schedule a call.
 - If this makes sense to you, let us know your availability so we can schedule a call.

7. Friendly and Strategic Closing (Paragraph 7)

This section provides a warm and professional closing line. It should inspire continued connection and leave the client with a positive impression.

Instructions Paragraph 7:

- Keep it short (one line).
- Maintain a confident, approachable, and professional tone.
- Sign always with Juan at the end.

Examples Paragraph 7:(do not use verbatim):

- Looking forward to connecting.
- Talk soon.
- Let's make this happen.
- Speak soon and thanks again for the opportunity.
- Best,
- Warm regards,
- All the best,
- Until then,
